

Name: 1st, 2nd, 4th, 5th, 7th, 8th

Assigned Book # Various old versions

Independent Reading Schedule

Fahrenheit 451 by Ray Bradbury is a reasonably short book; however, there are state tests and a spring break during the time we read it, so the schedule may change a bit. You should average 10 pages of reading per day. Many of you will be ahead of schedule, but no one should fall behind! There will be discussions, quizzes, and writing assignments along the way. Use these dates to schedule your reading and keep track of your progress:

March 23/26: Book Assignments

Read to page 31 by next time.

("Goodbye...")

March 27/28: pages 31-53

("Every fireman, sooner or later, hits this.")

March 29-30

Read pages 53-77 today.

("He slammed the door.")

April 2-6: Spring Break

Read pages 77-100 during this time.

("Where ignorant armies clash by night.")

April 9-10: Catch up!

April 11/16: Year-end ELA Exam

Read pages 100-129 during this time.

("...in the long winter to come.")

April 17/18

pages 129-145

("...where he was walking now.")

April 19/20: Finish reading Fahrenheit 451

("When we reach the city.") 145-165

April 23/24: Objective Test

Synthesis Essay assignment/discussion

April 25/26: The Gallery of Censorship

April 27/30: Beatty vs. Faber

May 1/2: Turn in books & all assignments.

"It was a pleasure to burn" ...
...through all this literature with you this year!

Name: 3rd & 6th periods

Assigned Book # 60th Anniversary Edition

Independent Reading Schedule

Fahrenheit 451 by Ray Bradbury is a reasonably short book; however, there are state tests and a spring break during the time we read it, so the schedule may change a bit. You should average 10 pages of reading per day. Many of you will be ahead of schedule, but no one should fall behind! There will be discussions, quizzes, and writing assignments along the way. Use these dates to schedule your reading and keep track of your progress:

March 23/26: Book Assignments

Read to page 28 by next time.

("Goodbye...")

March 27/28: pages 29-51

("Every fireman, sooner or later, hits this.")

March 29-30

Read pages 51-73 today.

("He slammed the door.")

April 2-6: Spring Break

Read pages 73-97 during this time.

("Where ignorant armies clash by night.")

April 9-10: Catch up!

April 11/16: Year-end ELA Exam

Read pages 97-123 during this time.

("...in the long winter to come.")

April 17/18

pages 123-138

("...where he was walking now.")

April 19/20: Finish reading Fahrenheit 451

("When we reach the city.")

138-158

April 23/24: Objective Test

Synthesis Essay assignment/discussion

April 25/26: The Gallery of Censorship

April 27/30: Beatty vs. Faber

May 1/2: Turn in books & all assignments.

"It was a pleasure to burn" ...
...through all this literature with you this year!